

Do you have an old workplace pension you're not keeping track of?

The days of a single job for life are few and far between. It's no longer unusual for people to have several different jobs in a lifetime, perhaps even spanning different industries. One thing that people tend to put to the back of their mind once they change job, is the pension fund they've built up.

Then, as the years pass it becomes harder to keep track of these investments. If you'd like to take control of your pension fund today, a Personal Retirement Bond is the perfect vehicle to do so!

What is a Personal Retirement Bond?

A Personal Retirement Bond (PRB) is a simple, straightforward way to take your pension fund with you if you decide to change job. A PRB is a personal policy that is set up for you by the trustees of your old pension scheme. It basically means that if you leave your company pension, you can bring your pension benefits with you by having the value of your fund transferred into a PRB. If you're planning to leave a job or have already done so and you're part of the group pension plan, a PRB could be a great option for you. A PRB would also be suitable if you decide to leave a company pension scheme for any other reason, or if the scheme is winding down.

Control

The main reason why it makes sense to take out a Personal Retirement Bond is that you have greater control over your pension. Left in the hands of a previous employer that you're no longer in contact with means they have control over how it's invested and when you can access it. With a Personal Retirement Bond you have full control of how your money is invested and can access these funds from age 50 if required. It's your money, so why not make it work for you.

Keep track of your investment

With a Zurich Personal Retirement Bond you'll have the opportunity to keep track of your investment at the click of a button. With 24 hr access to Zurich's client centre, whether you're interested in every market movement or would rather check in once a year – Zurich makes this easy to do.

QROPS (Qualifying Recognised Overseas Pension Scheme)

Over the years, thousands of Irish people have migrated to the UK in search of work and whilst there, paid into a company pension or private pension arrangement. If this is something that relates to you, rest assured Zurich's Personal Retirement Bonds are QROPS approved (Meaning they can receive pension transfers from the UK).
