

Monthly Investment Review

The latter half of 2015 marked an inflection point in markets as the Federal Reserve hiked interest rates for the first time in almost a decade; investors are now focusing on the US rate rise cycle. Economic weakness in China and the emerging markets as well as sharply lower oil prices have caused a significant pick-up in volatility levels although this should provide opportunities for investors. Although a number of key indices technically hit bear market territory in early February, the dominant US S&P 500 Index remained resilient. Equities remain better value on a relative basis than either cash or bonds. However, concerns over global economic growth and the impact of negative interest rates on financial stocks has resulted in a scaling back of earnings growth expectations in 2016. Eurozone bonds do not appear to offer much upside potential from here.

Zurich Life Fund Allocations & Activity

Equities & Bonds: The funds are neutral.

Activity: The equity positions were little changed although the US position was increased marginally. Bonds were maintained at neutral; despite the lack of value, it is difficult to cut positions given the tailwind of aggressive ECB policy action.

Regionally, the funds are:

- Overweight in Ireland and slightly overweight in North America.
- Neutral in Europe and Japan.
- Underweight in the UK and slightly underweight in Asia-Pacific (ex-Japan).

Sectorwise, the funds are:

- Overweight energy, healthcare and technology.
- Underweight financials, industrials and basic materials.
- Otherwise broadly balanced.

Warning: Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance.

Warning: The value of your investment may go down as well as up.

Warning: Benefits may be affected by changes in currency exchange rates.

Warning: If you invest in this fund you may lose some or all of the money you invest.

Equity Markets

- Equities (in euro terms) had a positive month in March, with most of the gains coming in the first few trading days. Markets had corrected sharply in the first six weeks of the year but have rebounded somewhat from oversold levels since. Equities were supported by better than expected US economic data, easing China concerns and a more dovish Federal Reserve. On a technical basis, the global index (in euro terms) moved well above its 50-day moving average but is still below the critical 200-day moving average.
- World equities (in euro terms) rose by 2.4% during March and have given a total return of minus 4.3% in the first quarter of the year. With the exception of Ireland (-0.5%), all of the major equity markets were up in local currency terms in March ranging from 1.3% in the UK to 8.7% in Hong Kong. The influential US market was up 6.6%.
- Sectorwise in the US, economically sensitive areas, such as energy (+9%) and information technology (+9%), generally outperformed defensive stocks for the second month-in-a-row, following a long period of underperformance. However, all sectors were in positive territory during the month.

Bonds & Interest Rates

- The Merrill Lynch Euro over 5 Year Index rose by 0.8% in March, giving a strong return of 5.4% year-to-date. Bonds have been supported by economic growth concerns, low inflation and increased quantitative easing in the eurozone. Core eurozone bond markets, such as Germany, have outperformed peripheral markets, such as Spain, so far in 2016.

- The German 10-year bond yield was little changed in March ending at around 0.15%. The yield had hit an all-time low of 0.05% in mid-April 2015. Equivalent US rates rose slightly from 1.73% to 1.77%.
- The markets currently believe that there is only a 50% chance of a second rate rise in the US by year end. UK and eurozone rates are unlikely to start rising in the foreseeable future.

Commodities & Currencies

- Commodity prices overall have fallen heavily over the last 20 months. However, they rose by 4.5% in March from oversold levels, led by oil prices (+11%); but remain down 3.2% year-to-date.
- The gold price was flat in March at $1,234 per troy ounce. Gold had hit a five-year low of $1,049 in mid-December 2015.
- The euro currency was up strongly against the US dollar during March, partly due to the more dovish comments from the Federal Reserve regarding interest rate rises. The EUR/USD rate moved from 1.09 to 1.14 over the month.

Equity & Bond % Returns

This graph shows the performance of the major equity markets over the month of March. The returns are shown in both local and euro currencies. The bond index is the Merrill Lynch over 5 Year Euro Government Bond Index.

The Financial Express sector averages shown are the average of all funds in each of the Financial Express sectors in the individual pensions category.

Annual management charges (AMC) apply. The fund returns shown are net of the AMC deducted by Zurich Life in our unit prices. The fund returns are based on an investment in the funds and do not represent the returns achieved by individual policies linked to the funds. These fund returns may be before the full AMC is applied to a policy. The actual returns on policies linked to the specified fund will be lower because of the effects of charges and in some cases a higher management charge.

* External fund size: Where external funds have been on the Zurich platform for less than two years, we have used the fund size of the underlying external fund.

N/S = Not Started.

Figures highlighted in blue indicate where the Zurich Life fund has outperformed the sector average.
