

Monthly Investment Review

The latter half of 2015 marked an inflection point in markets as the Federal Reserve hiked interest rates for the first time in almost a decade; investors are now focusing on the US rate rise cycle. Economic weakness in China and the emerging markets as well as sharply lower oil prices have caused a significant pick-up in volatility levels, however this should provide opportunities for investors. Although a number of key indices technically hit bear market territory earlier in the year, the dominant US S&P 500 Index has remained resilient. Equities remain better value on a relative basis than either cash or bonds. However, concerns over global economic conditions as well as poor top-line growth in Q1 corporate results has resulted in a scaling back of earnings growth expectations in 2016. Eurozone bonds do not appear to offer much upside potential from here.

Zurich Life Fund Allocations & Activity

Equities & Bonds: Equities are slightly overweight, bonds slightly underweight.

Activity: The equity positions were increased slightly from neutral, bonds reduced slightly from neutral; despite the lack of value, it is difficult to cut bond positions significantly given the tailwind of aggressive ECB policy action.

Regionally, the funds are:

- Overweight in Ireland.
- Neutral in Europe, North America, Asia-Pacific (ex-Japan) and Japan.
- Underweight in the UK.

Sectorwise, the funds are:

- Overweight healthcare and discretionary consumer services.
- Underweight financials, utilities and basic materials.
- Otherwise broadly balanced.

Warning: Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance.

Warning: The value of your investment may go down as well as up.

Warning: Benefits may be affected by changes in currency exchange rates.

Warning: If you invest in this fund you may lose some or all of the money you invest.

Equity Markets

- Equities (in euro terms) had a mixed month in April. Equities were supported in the first half of the month by a dovish Federal Reserve and slightly better economic data from China and the US. Markets turned down again in the second half as US Q1 earnings results in the US, in general, showed poor top-line growth. On a technical basis, the global index (in euro terms) moved above its critical 200-day moving average during the month but ended just below it by month-end. The US S&P500 Index remained above both its 50-day and 200-day moving averages.

- World equities (in euro terms) rose by 1.0% during April and have given a total return of minus 3.3% in the first four months of the year. With the exception of Ireland (-2.3%) and Japan (-0.5%), all of the major equity markets were up in local currency terms in April ranging from 0.3% in the US to 3.3% in resource rich Australia.

- Sectorwise in the US, economically sensitive areas, such as energy (+9%) and materials (+5%), generally outperformed defensive stocks for the third month in-a-row, following a long period of underperformance. However, the information technology sector was down 5.5% in April.

Bonds & Interest Rates

- The Merrill Lynch Euro over 5 Year Index fell by 1.8% in April, giving a return of 3.5% year-to-date. Bonds had been supported in Q1 by economic growth concerns, low inflation and increased quantitative easing in the eurozone. However, they ran out of steam in April.

- The German 10-year bond yield rose in April moving from 0.15% to 0.27%. The yield had hit an all-time low of 0.05% in mid-April 2015. Equivalent US rates rose slightly from 1.77% to 1.88%.
- The markets currently believe that there is only a 50% chance of a second rate rise in the US by the end of Q1 2017. UK and eurozone rates are unlikely to start rising in the foreseeable future.

Commodities & Currencies

- Commodity prices overall have fallen heavily over the last year and a half. However, they rose strongly for the second month-in a row (+8.3%) in April, led by oil prices (+20%); and are now up by 4.8% year-to-date.
- The gold price was up strongly in April moving from $1,234 to at $1,290 per troy ounce. Gold is now up 23% from its five-year low of $1,049 in mid-December 2015.
- The euro currency was flat against the US dollar during April, following the previous month's strong upward move - on the back of dovish comments from the Federal Reserve regarding interest rate rises. The EUR/ USD rate traded around 1.14 over the month.

Equity & Bond % Returns

This graph shows the performance of the major equity markets over the month of April. The returns are shown in both local and euro currencies. The bond index is the Merrill Lynch over 5 Year Euro Government Bond Index.

The Financial Express sector averages shown are the average of all funds in each of the Financial Express sectors in the individual pensions category.

Annual management charges (AMC) apply. The fund returns shown are net of the AMC deducted by Zurich Life in our unit prices. The fund returns are based on an investment in the funds and do not represent the returns achieved by individual policies linked to the funds. These fund returns may be before the full AMC is applied to a policy. The actual returns on policies linked to the specified fund will be lower because of the effects of charges and in some cases a higher management charge.

* External fund size: Where external funds have been on the Zurich platform for less than two years, we have used the fund size of the underlying external fund.

N/S = Not Started.

Figures highlighted in blue indicate where the Zurich Life fund has outperformed the sector average.
